The Auditorium.

Next week at the Auditorium will be seen the last vaudeville show of the season and will undoubtedly be the season and will undoubtedly be the best four acts put on the stage at this popular play house this season, as the management has been purticularly careful to secure a first class bill to close the vaudeville part of the entertainment for the summer months. Beginning Monday week of July the fifth the house will run only the latest of moving pictures.

This act is known throughout the vaudeville world as the Mobile Minstrel Mokes, and its three clever members have just closed a very successful season with the Williams & Walker show. It is a complete minstrel "first part" and serves to introduce the latest coon songs in a genuine southern darky manner.

A real lively musical team is something that has not been seen here in a long time and in Emmerson and everything else that goes to make up a good musical act. Emerson plays on bells, plates, cups, etc., while his partner accompanies him on the banje. On the whole, this act is a novelety throughout and is one which will elty throughout and is one which will Jack Ingils, "That Humorous Chap," rection Dialogue, will hand out a line of talk such as has never been equalled for good, clean jokes and stories, and his dancing is equal to the best.

Rena Lavelle, a dainty singing com-edienne, will round out in good form what is thought to be the best bill

The Cow Girl.

Among the horses, steers, buffaloes, whoys, Indians and other concomi-nts of the "wild and woolly" west, which the Miller Brothers' famous 161 Ranch is bringing to this city on next Thursday, is an element new to this community—the Cow Girl! The lady bronco buster: the feminine conqueror of beef and horns; the lassocer in lingerie; the Rough Rider in ribbons and sermon at 10.30 at St. Andrew's church the stock-raising west comparing with the Bachelor Girl and the Independent Woman of the east. She is not of the New Woman class—not of the sort that discards her feminine attrisort that discards her feminine attributes and tries to ape the man, simply a lively, athletic young woman with a superfluity of nerve and animil spirits, with a realization that in affairs where skill is the chief qualidication she has an equal chance with her brothers.

Those who expect to see a group of rawboned, masculine Amazons in these cowgirls will suffer a keen disappointment, for there is not one of them who would not—and does not—cut a dainty figure on the floor of a ballroom From Mabel Miller, champion allarmand cow girl of the west, to Dolly Roberts, noted for her skill shorse, they are as pretty a collection of girls as ever set masculine hearts a-flutter. They are close friends and happy associates, recruited from ranches which adjoin the 101, and all are with the show for a jolly good time.

Miss Miller is not unknown here, for her fame has preceded her. Her achievements in the saddle have given her a title to the claim of being one of the most fearless and accomplished Those who expect to see a group of her a title to the claim of being one of the most fearless and accomplished horsewomen in the world. And she can rope, throw and tie a steer in something less than a minute. From the time she was first able to sit on a horse, she has been intensely fond of anything in the way of equestrianism, and no feat performed by the most reckless among cowboys on the renowned 101 Ranch has ever baffled her. She learned to throw the lariat with a skill wonderful for a girl; but that was not enough for her. She wanted to learn how to do it better than the cleverest cowboy on the range and round-up, and finally came the time when the men could learn something by watching Mabel.

Mabel Miller, however, is not the only wonderful cow girl of Oklahoma who shows her skill with the 101 Ranch show. A score of others are close rivals in all the picturesque and spectacular achievements. Their racing contests are so stubbornly fought out that limb and even life are racing contests are so stubbornly fought out that limb and even life are at stake. Their "trick" riding is the despair of masculine imitators.

There will be wild herse races, buffalo hunts, Indian war dances, crack marksmanship, steer roping, branding, a Mexican builfight, round-ups, cowboy pastimes, "bucking" horses with the 191 Ranch show. But the feature of features in parade and in arena will be the Cow Girl!

BREED THEATER. "The Jilt," American Biograph Feature Motion Picture.

Noticing that the bill for the balance of the week was, to his mind, a little bit weak, Manager McNulty immediately sent for two more feature pictures, they arriving in time for the Friday matinee. The really big feature was the splendid biograph picture entitled The Jilt, which is one of the most excellent bits of acting seen here in a long time. It seems that all of the human emotions are played upon in this bic feature and played upon in this big feature and it is photographically perfect. The Timely Apparition is a wonderfully beautiful film d'art, of the ancient Gallic days. On this reel is shown also King Edward viewing the Wright brothers in one of their flights. Miss Norma Beaux has made a distinct hit during her short stay here, and is most delightful in her two numbers for the latter haif of the week, which are Greene's Sing Me to Sleep, and the dainty, popular song, it's the Pretty Things You Say, Dear, Mr. Delaney singing afterwards the catchy rube song, Mornin', Cy, with a response chorus making a repetition necessary.

A soft hand stroked it as I went by.
What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
I saw something better than anyone knows.

bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.
Where did you get this pearly ear?
God spoke and it came out to hear.
Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into bonds and bands.
Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherub's wings. How did they all just come to be you? God thought about me, and se I grew. But how did you come to us, you dear?
